

Social and Emotional Learning (SEL) for Educators and Mentors

Helping educators build a foundation in SEL through a transformative, flexible curriculum to gain confidence in engaging students in SEL conversations

Edgenuity knows that confident teachers are the critical foundation for student success. In a complex world, teachers are called to mentor and teach in the often-challenging area of social and emotional learning. Many teachers share that they don't feel equipped to address these topics and are scared to open the door to tough conversations when they don't have answers. In order to support schools in preparing teachers to be SEL leaders, Edgenuity has partnered with Purpose Prep to offer a robust SEL curriculum for adult learners.

Flexible, personalized curriculum

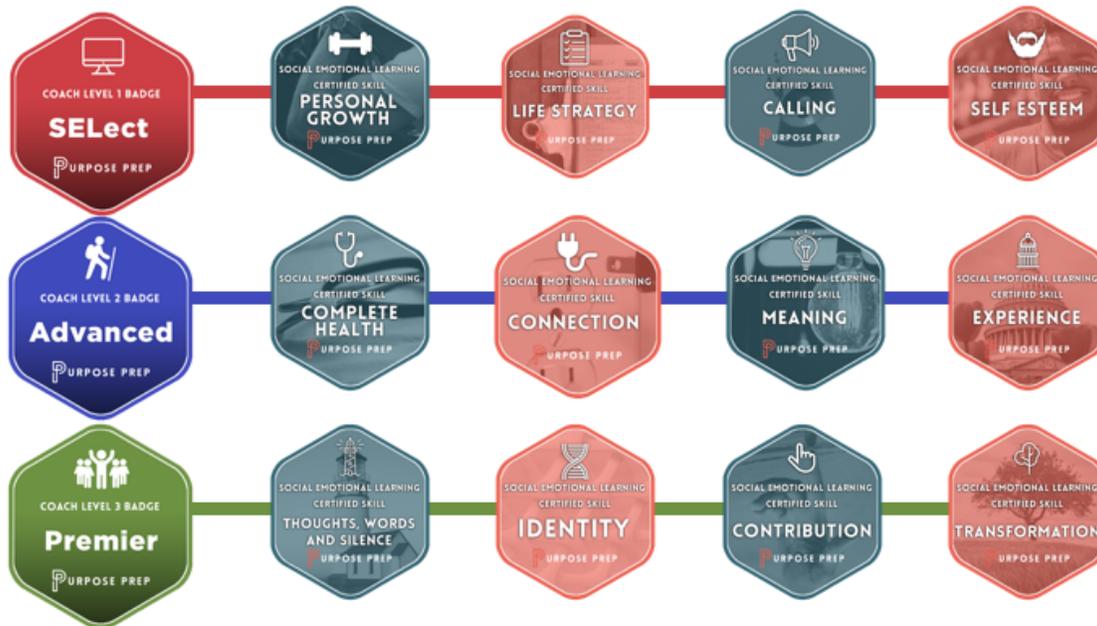

Purpose Prep Educator SEL was designed for the adult learner with 3 levels composed of 4 courses. Each course contains 18 modules built on foundations of microlearning for professional development. Every course has 5 to 8 hours of content featuring dynamic coaching videos, PDF study guides, FAQs (Frequently Avoided Questions), call to purpose tasks for applied learning, podcasts, and personal reflections. There are additional recommended readings for those who want to do a deeper dive. Educators can work independently and autonomously, or as a group with a site facilitator who can review and reply to digital submissions via the Purpose Prep platform.

Transformation through empathy

The Educator SEL curriculum offered by Edgenuity, in partnership with Purpose Prep, introduces educators to SEL topics aligned to CASEL competencies to help build understanding and personal frameworks for SEL. When educators engage in SEL they are better prepared to model, mentor and instruct students. The courses help educators and other adults build a common culture and language around social and emotional learning, while fostering a shared experience, and creating empathy among colleagues, and in educator-student relationships.

3 COURSE LEVELS WITH 12 TOPICS OF STUDY

Virtual Badges to show professional development

All Edgenuity SEL curriculum offerings are aligned to CASEL competencies and adult-learning best practices. Educators will earn virtual badges to show professional study and development, and a certification of completion for each level. New content is added and updated regularly by Purpose Prep to ensure that educators are equipped to confidently address current needs. The Edgenuity partnership with Purpose Prep brings access to a rich library of professional development to support staff in building effective SEL programs in their schools and districts.
